Policy on Audit of Courses

Students may apply to the Registrar for approval to audit any course in the UPR Master of Arts programs. Courses which have been audited will be recorded with a grade of "AU" and will not earn the student any credit toward a degree (even if they should choose to enroll for credit at a later time).

Students auditing a course are considered passive participants and will not be held responsible for course assignments. Neither will they have direct contact with the course professor, nor any other students that might be enrolled in the course.

Audit students will be required to pay a tuition charge of $299 per each audited course. For this fee they will be provided with the course lecture recordings and an Audit Course guide detailing the course description, faculty qualifications, learning outcomes, suggested and required textbooks, and (for information purposes only) details of the written assignments. The Audit tuition fee includes standard shipping costs for North America (overseas shipping costs are an additional charge).

Students may purchase the textbooks normally associated with the courses through UPR or through other sources. Textbooks and shipping charges for textbooks are not included in the Audit tuition fee.
